

Targeting Action Plan

A Targeting Action Plan is a strategic way to plan interventions to address what is being observed in quantitative and qualitative data. Interventions are not always curriculums and programs, they are also the strategies, resources, and things done to adjust instruction to meet the needs of students. As you review your data, use this tool to identify areas to target for intervention, create a record of what is being done, and provide a list of things to look for in the classroom.
