

Help me put these machines together!
Which operation goes first, then second?

What happens if I switch the order of the operations?

